family is who you choose but it's also the people you want to remember does your baby have the chubbiest cheeks in the world that are perfectly kissable? does your dog do the cutest thing when you're relaxing at home and it needs captured? whether you want to go out in the world or stay cozy at home, to me, family is all about the people who can make anywhere in the world feel like home.

your family could be you and the four paws you love, or you and the closest 50 human relatives you have, or you and your sibling, the list goes on. if they matter to you and you want them there, let's do it.

our time together will be spent laughing and playing, sometimes snuggling, but definitely not posing.
